10 Ships, 4,000 Men Of Navy Joining Hunt For Flyers

By MILLER HOLLAND
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Carrying three airplanes, the big battleship Colorado was steaming at top speed today to start a combined air and sea search in a new area—the Phoenix Islands—for Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan.

The Colorado, ship of hope to a despairing world awaiting word of the lost fliers, was due to reach Winslow Bank, on the north edge of the Phoenix group, at 6:30 P. M. S. T., this evening.

Daylight and visibility permitting, Captain Friedell, the Colorado's commander, planned to catapult his three planes and start an air search immediately upon arrival at the Bank, which is 280 miles southeast of Howland Island.

Miss Earhart and Noonan, her navigator, has been missing since last Friday when they missed Howland in their round the world plane on a flight from Lae, New Guinea.

The planes aboard the Colorado are two seaters. They are able to fly 200 miles from the Colorado and back again.

Captain Friedell plans to deploy them spookwise from the ship.

"Overcoat" For Fruit Trees

Frost Menace Ended By Device, Claims Inventor

SAN DIEGO (UP)—Southern California's citrus trees, and other fruit orchards, will be provided with "foot-warmers" and "overcoats" to combat frost and cold in the future, and at the same time abate the smudge nuisance, Ralph Cook, Escondido orchardist said today.

Cook revealed he has obtained approval of basic patents on a new smokeless "overcoat" and "footwarmer" for orchard trees.

The new "overcoat" method, according to Cook, utilizes the principal of air-conditioning. Under Cook's plan each tree is partially covered by a specially designed and woven "overcoat" to prevent cold air descending through the branches. Next to the trunk a small kerosene heater—the foot-warmer—is placed.

KELSEY MINE TO SINK SHAFT TO 500 FEET

At the Kelsey mine, operated by the Kelsey Mining Company, a gallow frame is being installed, preparatory to sinking a two-compartment shaft to a depth of 500 feet. Hoisting equipment is also to be installed.

One hundred tons of ore are being treated daily at the mill, which is operating on a three-shift basis. Ore from the stopes and an upper tunnel are being trammed by electric locomotive to the ore bins. It is at present being worked through a 1,600-foot tunnel.

E. T. Willard 823 Forty-fifth Avenue, San Francisco, is general manager.

Junior Community Hall Project Is Nearing Completion

The Junior Community Hall, which is being erected on the city property on Benham street under the sponsorship of a community committee of which L. J. Anderson is chairman, is nearing completion and the date for the dedication of the building may be set at tonight's meeting of El Dorado Post No. 119, American Legion.

The Legion post sponsored the project originally.

According to Dr. Anderson, Hugh Lewis has contributed his time and

150,000 Work Sheets Filed In Conservation Plan

493 From El Dorado County In Addition To 54 Range Applications; 4-County Association Has 1262 Applicants

Approximately 95 per cent of the farms in California are represented in over 150,000 work sheets filed by farmers of this state under the 1937 agricultural conservation program. This is a considerable increase over the 48,000 work sheets filed for last year's conservation program.

Announcement of the results of the 1937 program sign-up was made today by the agricultural adjustment administration on the basis of figures compiled by B. H. Crocherson, state director of agricultural extension.

It is estimated that approximately 70,000 farms and over 2,200 ranches are expected to take part in this year's program. Participation in the 1936 program covered approximately 20,000 farms and 1,000 ranches.

Total payments to California farmers under this year's program may reach $7,000,000. The total of payments for the 1936 program which are now being distributed to California farmers is expected to be approximately $4,000,000. Funds for carrying on the agricultural conservation program during the 1937-38 fiscal year are provided in an appropriations bill signed June 30 by the President.

Figures compiled by Director Crocherson show that work sheets were filed in every county of the state but San Francisco. Ten counties had nearly 85,000 work sheet signers, over 50 per cent of the total filed. These ten leading counties, with the exceptions of Los Angeles, Santa Clara and Orange, were among the ten counties which lead in the 1936 sign-up. Following is a list of the ten leading counties, with the number of work sheets filed in each: Fresno, 12,601; San Joaquin, 11,000; Tulare, 10,421; Los Angeles, 9,058; San Bernardino, 7,537; Riverside, 7,500; San Diego, 7,239; Stanislaus, 7,101; Santa Clara, 6,585; Orange, 5,724.

The filing of work sheets with county agricultural conservation committees was the initial step taken by farmers in order to be able to participate in the 1937 program and become eligible for payments. Applications for payments will be filed after performance has been determined and farmers have actually measured up to the standards of the program. County committees are now making preparations to check performance. It is expected that this phase of the program in California will get under way early this month.

Records show that in El Dorado County there were 493 work sheets and 54 range applications filed; in Alpine County there were 13 work sheets and three range applications; in Amador County 168 work sheets and 40 range applications; and in Calaveras County 450 work sheets and 41 range applications indicating a total participation in the four-county association of 1,262 farmers and stockmen.

Former Placerville Man Is Married

An article in a recent issue of the Stockton Record reveals the marriage on June 17 of Max Frink, formerly of this county, and Miss Dorothy Kimbrell, of the San Joaquin city. Mrs. Frink is a nurse.

The couple married at Carson City and will make their home at Stockton.

Grand Jury To Be Called

Indictment Against Stock Brokers To Be Re-Submitted

The county grand jury will be called again, probably some time next week, for re-submission of the case of J. H. Rosenberger and Joseph Murphy, San Francisco brokers, charged with violation of the corporate securities act.

The charges based on a true bill found by the grand jury at its recent meeting, arise as a result of a stock transaction assertedly consummated between the two and Kathleen and Leo Flynn, of Georgetown.

The defendants, at liberty on $5,000 bail, were in court on Tuesday for arraignment and before proceeding to the arraignment defense counsel made an effort to quash the indictment, contending no illegal act had been committed.

While the court over-ruled this motion, the demurrer interposed by the defense, attacking the indictment on technical grounds, was sustained, and the issue was ordered submitted to the grand jury again.

Judge George H. Thompson announced that under the law the defendants would remain at liberty on bail of $5,000 each.

It was reported the grand jury probably will be called to meet sometime next week.

"Alfalfa Bill" Maps Comeback

Strange Medley Of Political Races Is In Prospect

By FRANK McNAUGHTON
United Press Staff Correspondent
OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—Fleury William Henry (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, Oklahoma's former governor-author, has launched what his friends are convinced is his first of a series of battles to return to the governorship in which he made Southwest history for four years from 1931 to 1935.

He has written a caustic book, "Rights of Americans Under the Constitution," belaboring the Roosevelt administration, and expounding against the President's Supreme Court reorganization plan.

The 1938 election may see a strange medley of political races in Oklahoma. Rep. Will Rogers, although he has kept his plans a secret, is considered as either a candidate for senator against incumbent Elmer Thomas or for governor.

Former Senator T. P. Gore, blind spellbinder who was beaten by Josh Lee in 1936, may run for congressman-at-large to succeed Rogers, according to reports.

And Governor E. W. Marland, who lost to Lee in the run-off primary contest for Democratic nomination for senator last year, may make another trial for a Senate post against Thomas.

Murray's chances are enhanced, according to some Oklahoma politicians, by repeal of the runoff second primary system. In a crowded field, with one primary, Murray might have a good chance to capture the Democratic nomination. The state Supreme Court has so construed the state election law that Murray's introduction of Landon and his opposition toward President Roosevelt would not bar him from running as a Democrat, is the opinion of J. William Cordell, secretary of the state election board.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilder Immel are home from a Fourth of July visit to San Francisco. Their three older children are remaining at Mills College to attend a summer school.

June Traffic Record 100 Per Cent

Fifty-two citations and fifty-two convictions are reported by City Officer D. W. LeBourveau in traffic enforcement in Placerville during the month of June.

LeBourveau cited 21 drivers for major traffic offenses and there were 21 convictions before City Judge Eugene Creed. There were 31 citations for minor infractions and all of these were found guilty, too.

We regret to report that the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Thomas, born recently at a Sacramento hospital, failed to live more than a few hours.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK (UP)—Tommy Farr, the Welshman with the standup haircut and matching fighting stance, clears from Europe on the Bremen Saturday, bound for the United States and a fight with Joe Louis.

The way was cleared for this fight, which will feature the holder of the British Empire title and the holder of the world's title, when the New York Boxing Commission, in yesterday's shirt-sleeve session, named Farr as the No. 1 heavyweight challenger. When the commissioners went in their great oak-paneled room and closed the great oak-paneled door behind them, the betting was even money that they would blackball Farr to revenge themselves on Promotor Mike Jacobs for taking the Louis-Braddock fight to Chicago.

But apparently they were as docile. Because it wasn't long ago, you know, that Farr was right down in those coal mines of Wales, working for a very small wage. Two years ago he was just another British heavyweight—which is to say he was working the small clubs for fish and chips money, without a great deal of hope for the future.

Now he'll be riding first class on one of the world's great boats, and in his pocket is a very fancy legal document (Turn to Page 2)

Fiend Slayer Offers Plea

20 Officers Stand Guard As Grand Jury Hears Case

LOS ANGELES (UP)—After telling a grand jury of housewives and business men how he garroted three little girls and ravished their bodies, Albert Dyer, 32, was under indictment today on three counts of first degree murder.

Twenty deputy sheriffs guarded against a lynching attempt as the WPA school crossing guard repeated his confession substantially as he told it before, to the Los Angeles County grand jury at last night's extraordinary session.

One of the five women jurors asked him why he picked such young victims as the three school girls, Jeanette Stephens, 9, Madeline Everett, 8, and her sister, Melba, 7.

"I wanted some young girls," he is reported to have replied. Bursting into tears as he told of the (Turn to Page 4)

The installation will be conducted by State Master Councilor Edward Sayers, with James Newman of Lodi, as installing senior councilor; Charles Moore of Lodi, installing junior councilor; Thomas Lee of Roseville, installing chaplain; and Harold Duden of Placerville, installing marshal.

Jack Rupley is the new master councilor, succeeding Lester Frost.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilder Immel are home from a Fourth of July visit to San Francisco. Their three older children are remaining at Mills College to attend a summer school.

Sailing Scow "Iron Duke" Was First Boat At Lake Tahoe

If ever a phantom ship sails the moonlit waters of Tahoe, it will be that of a schooner with two black masts against the stars—the ghost of the first boat on Tahoe. Oh, there may have been Indian canoes or rowboats before, but 70 years ago our special ship was the pride of the Lake, says the Tahoe Tattler.

They called her the "Iron Duke." Classed a schooner, the Iron Duke was a sailing scow about 50 feet long and from 20 to 30 feet wide. Captain Ern-

Banker, $46,000 Missing

San Jose Teller Being Sought By Federal Agents

SAN JOSE (UP)—The Department of Justice today investigated the disappearance of David Strom, chief teller of the American Trust Company Bank of San Jose, where, a checkup revealed $46,000 in federal reserve currency was missing.

G-Men said Strom was last seen on Saturday afternoon after he had checked in the currency shipment from the San Francisco federal reserve bank.

Strom failed to return to work yesterday after the three day holiday, bank officials told the federal agents. Strom had been employed at the bank 15 years.

Strom's wife, Margaret, denied her husband was missing.

"He telephoned me last night," she told bank officials. "He didn't say where he was."

Authorities said investigation showed Strom paid bills in currency in San Jose, and later in San Francisco, on Saturday.

Department of Justice agents declined to make any statement regarding their search for Strom. They said merely they were "investigating the case."

Fred Oehler, manager of the bank, said a complaint will be issued against Strom at Bureau of Investigation offices in San Francisco.

Youth Rescued In Yosemite

Picked Off Ledge On Glacier Point With 600-Ft. Rope

YOSEMITE (UP)—Edward Fleischer, 16, of Berkeley, today told of his experiences during the 18 hours he was marooned on a narrow ledge 1,000 feet above Yosemite Valley on the sheer granite cliff of Glacier Point.

Fleischer, who was rescued by rangers after spending a cold night on the slanting rock shelf, clung to a small tree cropping out of the ledge "to keep me from falling off."

"When I realized I was trapped," the boy said, "I whistled and shouted until I was hoarse."

"There was a small tree on the ledge and I clung to it and tried to sleep. Several times I dozed off, but I was afraid I might roll off and drop a thousand feet into the valley, so I didn't sleep much."

Rangers located the boy from Glacier Point—600 feet above. The rangers lowered a long rope to him, and in an inch by inch ascent, pulled him to safety.

Edward said he became lost when he separated from his father during a hike.

"I worked my way down the cliff, shelf by shelf, in the belief I would eventually reach the valley floor by a prettier route. I finally got to the last ledge and couldn't go any farther. I couldn't go back, either, so I stayed there."

Caldor Camp Gains 106 Enrollees

One hundred six enrollees for the Caldor CCC camp, which has been set up during the past month, arrived on Wednesday morning from the Miller Canyon camp on the San Bernardino forest.

est J. Pomin was her skipper as she piled between Glenbrook and Tahoe City with freight. She carried two sails, and her only power came from the mountain breezes.

In a few years the "Iron Duke" was to be shoved into oblivion with the appearance of a steamboat—the "True-kee." Trim little craft, the Truckee, and a favorite of the gold-laden, pleasure-seeking pioneers of the Comstock and Gold Hill. After the hectic (Continued on Page 4)

British freighter Moordy were expected to reach the Phoenix area later today after a futile search north, northwest and west of Howland Island.

Additionally the airplane carrier Lexington and four destroyers were scheduled to reach the search scene over the week-end. By that time 10 ships and 4,000 men will be concentrated in a gigantic hunt for the missing fliers. Additional reports came in today--all from radio amateurs--purporting to give information either from or about the lost fliers.

Five radio amateurs reported they heard rippling signals this morning on the wave length assigned to Miss Earhart's plane. They said the signals--on a carrier wave--sounded as if they were powered by a motor generator.

Salty Lake Is "Germ-Proof"

Scientists Find Water Kills All Bacteria

LA JOLLA (UP)—Scientists said today the Great Salt Lake in Utah is virtually a "germ-proof" swimming hole.

Researchers of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography of the University of California announced that all ordinary bacteria or "germ-carrying" microbes are killed instantly when exposed to the lake's concentrated salt waters. No land or fresh water bacteria has yet been found which can live in the saline concentrated waters of the lake, they disclose.

It was found that the lake water was not only highly bactericidal or "killing," but was also bacteriostatic or "retarding" to the already present salt water-type bacteria.

Some types of microbes are living in the lake, said the scientists, but they differ from those of other habitats in that they develop slowly and are in smaller colonies. They are believed to be species which became used to the slowly increasing salt water concentration during the time the waters of the old Lake Bonneville evaporated, leaving the saline residue of Salt Lake killings, Dyer related how he lured the girls to the Baldwin Hills on the pretext of hunting rabbits, strangled them one by one with ropes, and then violated their bodies.

Fiend Slayer Offers Plea

The dark, lean-faced little man was before the jury about 50 minutes. Five minutes after he stepped out, the true bill was returned and the jury called in investigators who had worked on the case to congratulate them.

Menaced to deputy sheriffs and surrounded by guards, he was hustled through the corridors to Judge Thomas L. Ambrose's court. Asked whether ready for arraignment, he replied: "Your honor, I plead guilty."

The judge explained this was impossible until he was represented by counsel. District Attorney Buron Pitts said Dyer had no funds and suggested that the public defender represent him. "Yes, your honor," Dyer squeaked in a high voice. "I have no money. I'm a WPA worker."

Judge Ambrose remanded him to jail without bail until arraignment and plea tomorrow morning.

The confessed slayer, who had appeared badly frightened from the moment he walked out of the jail elevator for the evening's program, slumped in a faint.

Two deputy sheriffs dragged him into the prisoners' room where he was revived a few moments later. Without a word, Dyer put his hands together, knelt down, and gazed up at the ceiling as though in prayer.

District Attorney Buron Pitts authorized last night's special grand jury session to bring Dyer to trial as early as possible. Pitts said he would demand the death penalty.

Only four other witnesses testified. Deputy Sheriff Willard Killon described finding the girls' bodies in a ravine one week ago Monday, two days after they vanished from an Ingewood park.

Identification witnesses were Don J. Oliver, police identification expert and uncle of the Everett girls, and Floyd Stephens, Jeanette's step-father. County Autopsy Surgeon A. F. Wagner described how the girls were strangled and then ravished.

Scow Sailed On Tahoe First

life of Virginia City, they came by stage to Glenbrook, there to embark on the "Truckee" for a thrilling ride across to Hot Springs, now known as Brockway.

Not much larger than a good-sized rowboat, the "Truckee" with its brave little upright boiler and swank canopy stern was soon overshadowed by the advent of the mighty Governor Stanford. Here was a real boat—not a tug. A side-wheeler, she was familiar to every early-day traveler.

Then one day, Rube Saxon arrived with his ox team at Tahoe and aboard was the "Mamie," hauled from Truckee. Built on the liens of the "Truckee," it was larger and naturally had a good many up-to-the-minute improvements. Her only fault, old-timers remember, was a tendency to bob up and down rather badly. She carried about 15 passengers and was a great favorite for fishing parties. With fourteen or fifteen rowboats in tow, she steamed along the shore dropping parties on the way.

Another contemporary of the Stanford was the Governor Blaisdell. Aside from carrying freight, it frequently served, during periods of inactivity, as a schoolhouse—while tied to the Tahoe dock.

Meanwhile another schooner had taken the place of the "Iron Duke." This was the romantic "Lily Van." Originally brought to the Lake by a man named Lettman of San Francisco, it was sailed for years by Captain Pomin. Later the boat became the property of Sailor Jack. Living aboard, he sailed about at his leisure until the boat was wrecked on the shores of Emerald Bay.

The "Lily Van" was a scow. Seven cabins stood on deck but the chief attraction to Sailor Jack was the fishing-well in the boat's center. Anchoring along the shore, he waited until the fish came in under the shadow of the boat and then made his day's catch using still bait.

Today the Lily Van is part of the summer home of Dr. Hartland Law on Emerald Bay.

The other early boats have disappeared. The old "Iron Duke" was beached near Shakespeare and gradually rotted away. The Governor Stanford for years was docked at Glenbrook and went to pieces in a storm. The Mamie disintegrated at the dock of old Tallac House.

Sam Collins was in town Wednesday from Garden Valley.
